EMORA slim INSTAGRIP sling strap

The EMORA Slim Instagrip sling camera strap, in black, is designed especially for users of full frame and compact mirrorless cameras to gain instant access to their camera. Made of soft neoprene material with anti-slip under-weave EMORA Slim Instagrip is thinner in design, prevents shoulder aches and slipping off when carrying the camera over an extended time. The strap can be easily and securely attached to the camera by rotating the aluminium fastener directly onto the camera's tripod base. Adjustable straps and swivel buckle provide total adjustment to suit just about any body size and shape. Dual lock buckle further helps prevent accidental release and the built-in underarm tether restricts the camera from swinging outward during movement.
